Breakout Sessions

Workshop #1: Back to Work – Getting the Injured Employee Back to Work, Diandra Abate and Matt Gorski, Amundsen Davis Law, LLC

Join Diandra Abate and Matt Gorski as they explore practical strategies for returning injured workers to productive employment safely, effectively, and efficiently. They will address common challenges employers encounter throughout the return-to-work process and provide tips on how to manage those issues. Lastly, they will examine proactive measures employers can implement to reduce the risk of repeat injuries and improve long-term safety and compliance.

Workshop #2: Accident Investigations/Best Practices for Post-Accident Procedures, Kevin Deuschle, IFMK Law

An employer's approach to accident investigation is a critical part of claim handling as it impacts the availability of good evidence, work culture, and often the final outcome in workers' compensation cases. We will discuss the legal perspective on the do's and don'ts when it comes to gathering documentation, effective communication, and maintaining a productive workforce.

Workshop #3: Empowering Employers to Take Control of their Workers' Compensation Costs, Dr. Raj Khanna, CompCorePro

Dr. Raj Khanna, CompCore Pro. CompCorePro (CCP) assists employers with taking control of their workers' compensation claims to control costs and close cases timely. CCP provides workers' compensation medical oversight and coordination of care. CCP's proprietary software and team of clinicians assist you in cost effectively managing your claims. We have successfully helped employers identify and resolve issues such as over-utilization of medical services, misdiagnosed cases, and delays in the workers' compensation system. CCP provides the missing link companies need to effectively monitor claims.

Workshop #4: Pain Management: Proven Treatments and Emerging Evidence, Dr. Adam Young, Illinois Bone & Joint Institute

11:00 am – 12:00 pm

General Session – AI and Technology in Workers' Compensation

Keefe Campbell Biery & Associates - Shawn Biery and John Campbell

Explore how artificial intelligence is transforming the workers' compensation landscape, from claims processing and fraud detection to legal, ethical, and regulatory considerations. Learn how emerging technologies are creating new opportunities while presenting evolving challenges for attorneys, employers, insurers, and claims professionals.

General Session – The Do's and Don'ts of Mediating Workplace Injury: A Win, Win, Win Perspective

Dr. Doug Craig, President, Atlantic OccuPsych

The Independent Medical Examination is an assessment commonly used in workers compensation. Attendees will learn about psychological trauma, what the diagnostic standard is for posttraumatic stress disorder, common practice challenges, iatrogenic influences, and how to mediate and intervene when trauma arises with emphasis on the role of the IME. Discussions will focus on evidence based psychological interventions, common pitfalls, standards of practice, and psychological interventions that contribute more harm than good. Lastly, there will be opportunity for case examples, questions, and live discussion in common challenges attendees face regarding psychological trauma mediation.
